

TAKE ACTION

ON YOUR PROPERTY

Learn how to control invasive plants

1. Identify
2. Prioritize
3. Set expectations
4. Start the work

ON PUBLIC LAND

Parks and roadsides need our help to prevent canopy collapse. Volunteering to remove invasive plants is fun and gratifying and a great way to get in your exercise!

Funding for professional services is also very much needed. Can you or your company help?

IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Volunteer as a Community Representative to relay information to your neighbors and help them strategize about controlling invasive plants – no experience needed! Hundreds of volunteers are needed for this effort.

WHAT WE DO

Stimulate efforts across residential, commercial, and public lands including roadside and other rights of way.

Educate the public on the impact of invasive plants.

Assess and monitor infestations countywide.

Help develop the professional and volunteer workforce.

Pursue funding for public land and incentives for removal on private property.

GET HELP

Communities and Commercial Properties

Fairfax Tree Rescuers PRISM volunteers can walk your community's common land with you to help identify invasive species and create a long-term management plan.

Private Property Residences

Volunteers from the Northern Virginia Bird Alliance can visit your property and help with your plans to make your yard more friendly to birds, butterflies, fireflies, and other wildlife.
